It is with great pleasure that we invite you to join us in Istanbul, Türkiye for an engaging forum on hepatitis E virus
(HEV) research.

This symposium will bring together leading experts to present new data and research updates on hepatitis E, an important but often neglected disease. This 2-day meeting will help to promote scientific collaboration and advance the global public health agenda for strengthening HEV prevention and control efforts. A limited number of travel awards are also available!

Planned sessions include

- Global HEV epidemiology
- Current HEV clinical research
- Advances in diagnostics and laboratory (basic) research
- Hecolin and other HEV vaccines
- One Health
- HEV control efforts and policy

Abstract submission deadline February 24.
